Established in 1966

It was the biggest shopping mall by then, which introduced various new brands and served as the standard for later shopping facilities in Hong Kong.

It is a cruise terminal and has a telecommunications centre, which makes it the window between Hong Kong and the world.

Lui Tai-lok recalled that during the World Cup preliminary round in 1973, as a football fan, he rushed to the Ocean Terminal concourse after school to check for any latest sports news issued by the telecommunications centre.

In 1967, TVB had conducted its first live broadcast.

The Café do Brazi, a gathering place for culturalists, was also located at the Ocean Terminal.
